

Lands' End Direct Merchants make a well tailored decision

In 1963 a young advertising copywriter named Gary Comer, who had long pursued a love for sailing quit his job of ten years and started a company selling hardware and sails. Lands' end was born. Lands' End is now recognised as a top performing e-commerce company and ranks 9th on the Business list of Top clothes retailers and customer service champions.

CSL are proud with their long standing relationship they have built with Lands' End.

We have been very impressed with both the standard of equipment and the level of service provided by CSL and would not hesitate to recommend them as a supplier
